

Press release

[] April 2008

Danny Maleary appointed to the Board of Axiom Consulting Limited

Promotion “rewards talent from within” and increases Axiom’s focus on delivering solutions to Brokers and Managing Agents

Danny Maleary has been promoted to the Board of Axiom Consulting Limited (Axiom), the (re)insurance business support specialist.

The promotion recognises Danny’s success in delivering new business and his contribution to repositioning Axiom as a specialist business support partner in the London market. He leads the new business development team with a particular focus on the Brokers and Managing Agency sector throughout 2008.

Danny, 40, has over 20 years experience in the London insurance market, since joining Alexander Howden Group Claims Consultancy in 1987. He was promoted through the business as it was acquired by Aon in 1997 and rebranded as Axiom in 2001. He was a senior member of the Axiom sales team at the time of the company’s MBO from Aon, backed by Royal London Private Equity (now RJD partners) in 2004.

Tim Riddell, Chief Executive Officer, Axiom, says:

“We believe in rewarding talent and Danny’s promotion to the board recognises our commitment to developing the skills of our team and providing opportunities for the best people to develop from within the business as well as making strategic appointments from outside. Danny has made a major contribution to repositioning of Axiom in the London market and has been pivotal in delivering our exceptional record of recent new business success.

“This appointment marks an important step in the implementation of our business strategy. We are continuing to strengthen our senior management team and I anticipate being in a position to announce further board-level appointments of well-respected London market specialists in the coming months.”

Danny Maleary, Business Development Director, Axiom says:
“We have made huge strides in moving the market’s perception of Axiom from being simply a trusted supplier of specialised back office services into being recognised as the source of specialist business consultancy, technical excellence and people resource right across the (re)insurance market. I am looking forward to continuing to develop our strategy and further building our business as a member of the senior management team.”

-ends-

For further information, please contact:

Keri Warren, Axiom +44 (0)20 7767 2913

Mike Lord, Lord Public Relations +44 (0)7831 401 311

Note to editors

Axiom is an independent insurance and reinsurance support specialist with over 185 staff in its headquarters in London. It advises on and manages business processes and exposures by working in partnership with Lloyd’s Managing Agents (including start-ups), insurers, reinsurers and brokers. Axiom’s services are delivered primarily through an outsourcing arrangement. It provides services to the live market through its virtual back office and consultancy solutions and to the run-off market through the management of discontinued portfolios and finality solutions on a worldwide basis.

- Axiom Claims Team involved in all recent high profile claims cases, including KRW, World Trade Centre, Enron and WorldCom
- Market leader in accounting and financial reporting services, working with over 35% of active Lloyd’s syndicates, over 75% of Lloyd’s corporate names and over 30 insurance companies and managing agents
- Provide a range of solutions to nearly half of all Managing Agents
- Completed the first ever finality transaction for a Japanese insurance company
- Authorised Lloyd’s run-off broker, a licensed Lloyd’s run-off